TRINITY CHURCH.

The Last Public Services in the Present Edifice.

THE RECTOR'S DISCOURSE.

An Interesting Historical Narrative.

The services of yesterday morning at Trinity Episcopal Church were of a deeply interesting character. It was upon the occasion of the last public ministrations of the Church in the edifice which has been occupied for forty-four years, and which is now to give place to the larger structure demanded by an increasing parish. The present building is familiarly known as one of the most prominent landmarks of the city. As such it has been regarded, and hereafter will be remembered, with sincere regard by every citizen who takes pride in the material history of Pittsburgh. The new Church edifice will have a type of architecture, and a completeness of structure, quite in keeping with the asthetic tastes of the present day and with the resources of a wealthy and prosperous parish. So, in its day also, the building which is now to be demolished, and which bears but a modest comparison with the more imposing Church-architecture of later years, was considered a splendid proof of the liberality of the parish and of the cultivated taste of its architects.

The scene at yesterday's services—the farewell of the parish to the sacred edifice which, for forty-four years, had given sanctuary to two generations of worshippers—was peculiarly a solemn and effecting one. The crowded Congregation numbered scores, indeed hundreds, of hearers who once were regular attendants there, at various periods since that day when Trinity was the only Church of the Episcopal denomination in this city. The thirteen existing parishes of to-day feel a just filial regard for their ecclesiastical mother, and many, in yesterday's audience came back from their present connections elsewhere in this city and its suburbs, to attest their affectionate concern in her spiritual and material welfare.

The discourse of the Rector, Rev. Mr. I. Scarborough, which we are enabled to print this morning, presents a graphic and highly interesting narrative of the history, both of the parish, and of the edifice to which many eyes yesterday bade a tearful farewell. It is eighty-two years since the gift of the Penns endowed the Trinity congregation with the ground-site which has since become so valuable. During this period, the history of the parish, both ecclesiastical and temporal, is most suggestively sketched by the Rector. His allusion to the fact that three of the Bishops of the Church have been his predecessors in that spiritual charge will strike the general attention. His discourse abounds with matter which will interest not only his parishioners but the public at large.

THE RECTOR'S ADDRESS.

Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory? Haggai I chap., 3 v.

It was a glorious and a joyous day when the first temple was formally dedicated and set apart for the worship of God. A thrill of infinite satisfaction stirred every devout heart, that at last a resting place was provided for the ark—a spot where God Himself would vouchsafe to dwell by His more immediate and special presence between the outstretched wings of the Cherubim.

It was a great event in history when King Solomon offered up his princely sacrifice within its walls and for the first time invoked the divine blessing on the finished work. But magnificent and costly as was this house of God—sacred and solemn as its use—it was finally to pass away. Its imposing ritual was to cease. The hand of the destroyer was to be laid upon it, and its carved work to be broken down with axes and hammers. In their captivity Israel remembered its glories, and its desecration filled them with sadness. The harp refused to utter its sweetest notes in response to the skillful touch of the player. The voice choked with deep emotion in attempting to sing the songs of Zion. But a brighter day soon dawned. The ruins were to be repaired. The house of the Lord was to be rebuilt, and the reproach taken away. In goodly number the people gathered from every quarter, and of every age and condition in life, to see the foundation laid.

Seemingly it was an occasion only for the wildest joy. But there were present some who remembered the first house in all its glory. In early life they had stood under its brilliant dome, and worshipped within its jeweled walls. Its rare beauty and splendors were deeply and indelibly impressed on their memory, and the joy of the present was clouded and swallowed up in the thoughts of the past; so that while others shouted for joy, because the foundation of a new Temple was to be laid, those wept sorrowfully as memories of departed glory came crowding thick upon them. There is deep, touching pathos in the graphic words of the prophet which describes the scene: "Many of the priests and Levites, and chief of the fathers who were ancient men, that had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice, and many shouted for joy, so that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people." Could any other words so tenderly and truthfully describe that strange scene? The greater part of the people were overjoyed and expressed their feelings in shouts that rent the air. The chief of the fathers who were ancient men, living in the past—more than in the present, wept for the house of their first love, where they had been wont to pay their vows unto the Most High.

And this was most natural. I do not blame, but rather praise them, for this display of the gentler emotions of the human heart. Their affections could never again entwine themselves about another holy spot as they had round that which was associated with their tender years, and thus while the shout of joy was going up from the multitude, the mighty flow of recollection overcame them and their eyes were dim with weeping.

Now, my brethern, is it not passing strange how wonderfully history repeats itself and how we live over again the lives of those who were thousands of years before us. I must not take time here to draw out anloagies, nor to show wherein our circumstances to-day in many points correspond exactly with the experience just recounted in your hearing. All may very readily do this for themselves. The truth of the analogy is self-evident. This intermingling of sorrow and joy, too, is a touch of human nature that I am sure all must have sometime or other experienced for themselves. There are events and periods in life when one hardly knows beforehand whether sorrow or joy will gain the day. I have seen the bride standing at the altar, about to give her hand, as she had already given her heart, to the man who loved her, weep most bitterly, when to others it seemed as if the occasion much more befitted animation and joyfulness. There are depths in the human heart that we never know till an occasion sounds them, and tender chords that never vibrate till the hand of experience touches them.

I am quite sure that some of my hearers to day can appreciate the strange discords that marked the beginning of the second Temple. I will not presume to define their thoughts, nor bring to the light the secret emotions of their souls. There is joy doubtless that a new house is to be built here for the honor of God—joy that the Church, the Bride of Christ, is about to deck herself in beautiful garments. But there is mingled with such joy a strange sense of sadness and bereavement. The affections are shocked with the consciousness that these sacred walls, with their priceless memories, are to be forever swept away. We are assembled together for the last time to worship and praise. For the last time we are to kneel together here to receive the Body and Blood of Christ, as the tokens of His dying love, and as the bond that makes all one in Him. The occasion has seemed to me a fitting one to recall, as briefly as possible, some of the leading events in the history of a parish that has for nearly four score years taken no mean part in the planting and extension of the Church in all this region. There are many yet living who saw this house in its first glory—when it was esteemed, and indeed was for its days, a very triumph of genius. We who are strangers, so to speak, know little of the strong attachments entertained by some even for the material walls. No other spot on earth can throw the same spell around us, as the home of early life—and this house of God has been the spiritual home of two generations. It would be strange, indeed, if it had not in that time become very dear to some, and it would be contrary to nature if these did not feel a pang at the thought of parting forever with an object so long and so intimately associated with the joys and sorrows of their lives. Let us turn now to a brief survey of its varied history.

The first record of any sort that I find existing in the history of Trinity Church is the deed of gift of two and a half lots of ground, that on which the present Church stands and the adjacent burial ground west and south of it. This deed bears date the 24th day of September, 1787, executed by "John Penn, Jr., and John Penn, of the city of Philadelphia, late proprietors of Pennsylvania, to the Honorable John Gibson, John Ormsby, Devereux Smith and Dr. Nathaniel Bedford, all of the town of Pittsburgh, in the county of Westmoreland, trustees of the congregation of Episcopalian Protestant Church, commonly called the Church of England, in trust forever, as a site for a house of religious worship and a burial place for the use of said religious society and their successors, and for no other use, intent or purpose whatsoever." Doubtless before this date the services of our church had been held here occasionally, though I have no data at hand to confirm this opinion. The chaplains of regiments quartered in the neighborhood and clergymen transiently here certainly officiated at times, though there was no settled pastor for years after.

Pittsburgh was then a frontier borough of small proportions, quite unconscious of its future greatness as the manufacturing metropolis, the great workshop of the whole West, which was then mostly an unexplored wilderness. It was fully twenty years subsequent to this date that Fulton first ascended the Hudson in a steamboat, and the railroad was then not so much as dreamed of by the most visionary. It was a day of small things. But even then there was at least the germ of a congregation existing here. Members of the church, deprived of all her privileges save those of love and loyalty for their spiritual mother, planted the early seeds and continued faithful through long years of waiting, and finally were privileged to enjoy the fruits of their patience. In the year 1797, ten years subsequent to the gift of land by the Penns, the mere handful of churchmen here invited the Rev. John Taylor to officiate as their pastor. Mr. Taylor, familiarly and lovingly named still as Father Taylor, was not originally either a member or a minister of this church, but through the influence chiefly of Wm. Cecil, an influential layman and a devout member of the Church of England, he was induced to take orders and begin his labors here. At first services were held in the Court House, and in other rooms, both private and public, as necessity or convenience required. On the third day of September, 1805, a charter was granted by the Supreme Court, constituting the Rev. John Taylor, then minister of the parish, Pressly Nevill and Samuel Roberts, the wardens, and Nathaniel Irish, Joseph Barker, Jeremiah Barker, Nathaniel Richardson, Nathaniel Bedford, Oliver Ormsby, George McGunnegle, George Robinson, Robert Magee, Alexandor McLaughlin, William Cecil and Joseph Davis, vestrymen, a corporation and body politic by the name of the "Minister, Church Wardens and Vestrymen of Trinity Church, in Pittsburgh." About this time a triangular piece of land was purchased, at the intersection of Sixth street with Wood and Liberty, and a brick building erected thereon, commonly called the "Round Church," from the fact that it conformed in its shape to the location of the ground. It contained forty-two pews, beside a gallery. A list of the original pew-holders is preserved, which would be full of interest to the present generation, had I space and time to name them. For twelve years from this date Mr. Taylor continued in office, often struggling with poverty and eking out his meagre support by teaching school. In 1818 he resigned the parish on account of advancing age and infirmity, having ministered in his holy office more than twenty years. He lived till the year 1838, when, on the 10th of August, at the ripe age of eighty-four, the wish he had often been heard to express, that he might not die a lingering death, was literally fulfilled. He was killed by lightning at Chenango, Mercer county, and buried, by the Rev. Mr. Crumpton, in a beautiful knoll which he had been wont to say "nature intended for a place of sepulture." There his mortal remains are resting now, alone by themselves, in a field with no sacred enclosure to protect the spot, and no visible monument to mark it. Would it not be a worthy deed for the present congregation either to remove the sacred dust of their first Rector to their own burial ground, or else erect some token of love to mark the lonely spot where all that is mortal of Father Taylor is resting in the hope of a joyful resurrection?

The first vestry meeting under the new charter was held April 9th, 1806. The only business then transacted was the adoption of a seal for the corporation and the passage of a resolution fining each member absent from a meeting without due and sufficient cause and excuse, in the sum of fifty cents! From 1806 till 1819, that is for a period of thirteen years, there is no record of anything save the official acts of ministerial duty performed by Mr. Taylor and others, and collected with much pains and care by Dr. Upfold at a later day. If the vestry kept any minutes of their doings then, they are now, I fear, hopelessly lost, and thus we are deprived of much information that would be of the greatest interest to us, as giving us an insight into the early struggles of the parish.

At this period, 1819, we find that death had removed a number of the vestry as at first organized. Oliver Ormsby and Peter Mowry are the Wardens; Morgan Nevill, George Poe, Jr., Abner Barker, Abraham Long, Joseph Davis, Peter Beard, Charles L. Volz, Walter Forward, Nathaniel Richardson, Samuel Roberts, Thomas Cromwell and John Reno, Vestrymen. The Rev. Abiel Carter became Rector of the parish in this year, but only remained a short time. The Rev. Wm. Richmond, a missionary of the Advancement Society of Pennsylvania, officiated for six months, and the Rev. George McElhenney for six months more. In the meantime the Vestry were in correspondence with various clergymen, endeavoring to find a settled pastor. The Rev. Joseph Prentiss, of Athens, New York, was called at a salary of $1,200 per annum, and a gratuity of $300 to pay the expense of removal hither, but after a long correspondence he declined to come. The great length and difficulty of the journey seems to have been the chief obstacle in the way! How strangely this record reads at our end of the half century!

The Rev. Intrepid Morse, of Steubenville, Ohio, and the Rev. H. P. Powers, of Fairfield, N.Y., were both called and both declined. Finally, in 1821, the Rev. William Thompson was called and entered on his duties, remaining, however, less than two years.

During his ministry the project of building a new church on the present site was determined on, and application made to the Legislature for leave to sell the old Round Church. No beginning was made, however, before the close of his rectorship.

Again there was a brief period without any pastoral care. During this time John Henry Hopkins, Esq., a young lawyer—a communicant of the Church and a member of the vestry—volunteered to act as lay-reader until a Rector should be called, and obtained his license from the venerable Bishop White. Finally he determined to quit a lucrative practice at the bar, and choose the ministry for his life work. He was ordained deacon in 1824, and at once assumed the duties of Rector From that time really dates the growth and prosperity of the parish. His vigorous mind infused new life into every department of the work. He speedily renewed the project of building a new church, himself made the plans and the marks of his wonderful genius were visible in every part of the work. Thomas Liggett was employed to superintend the building, but Mr. Hopkins was the power behind the throne which controlled and shaped everything by the force of his indomitable energy and will.

The corner-stone was laid with the imposing ritual of the order of Freemasons and on the 12th day of June, A. D., 1825, this Church was formally set apart and consecrated to the worship of Almighty God by Bishop White. The building was then incomplete, for I find the tower was built a year or two later by funds chiefly raised abroad by the personal solicitations of the Rector. In a resolution thanking Mr. Hopkins for the successful manner in which he had discharged the delicate duty assigned him, the vestry also thanked the Rev. David Cook Page, in most cordial terms, for his acceptable services during the absence of the Rector. May I not here ask my parishioners to remember, when some needy missionary from a frontier parish presents his claim and is either helped sparingly or turned empty away, that their own Rector- less than half a century ago, was, by vote of the vestry sent out as a begging parson to seek aid for this parish? In 1827 the tower was completed and in the following year the Rev. Mr. Hopkins was called to St. Stephen's Church, New York. In a letter earnestly entreating him to decline the call, the vestry express the fear that the congregation, built up mainly by his exertions, will be dissolved and scattered should he leave them then. He yielded to their wishes. But in 1830 he was called to be the assistant minister of Trinity Church, Boston. Again the vestry of this parish interposed, and again he declined a most tempting offer. But Boston was determined not to yield her claims to a man of so much ability in the present and so much promise in the future without a further effort.

He states that the only reason of his leaving here was the claim urged upon his services in the great cause of theological education. He had long desired the founding of such a work here, but his efforts had failed. Nevertheless, in the short space of four years four of the young men belonging to this congregation had entered the ministry under his care and training, and three others were candidates for holy orders. Massachusetts offered the field of labor he desired, and hence his change. The Vestry in formally accepting his resignation, have put on record a picture of the times worth reproducing. They say; "In recurring to the period when your labors commenced they well remember the dark cloud which hung in gloom over the prospects of our branch of the Church of Christ. They remember that in all Western Pennsylvania there were not more than two officiating Episcopal clergymen, and that the members of our Communion were scattered, that in our church there were less than fifty communicants; that in many of our largest and most flourishing villages the voice of an Episcopal clergyman had never been heard. But we turn with pleasure to our present situation. In this place there has been erected a splendid church, an ornament of the west, and the number of worshippers and number of communicants have increased nearly tenfold. Butler, Mercer, Meadville, Erie, Greensburg and Blairsville will all remember the spirit and zeal which were infused by your visits to those places."

I need not trace further the history or work of this great man of whom this parish is justly proud. His name and fame are now the heritage of the whole Church. As a man of genius and culture he was almost a prodigy, and had he been made the first Bishop of Pittsburgh when he was chosen to Vermont I cannot but feel that our Church would be vastly stronger to-day in all this diocese. As we are about to blot from existence this venerable building, the old familiar land-mark of his genius, surely some one will think it worth while to see that there is some memorial of him in the new church. The following verses were written by Bishop Hopkins as his farewell to Trinity Church:

Farewell ye pinnacled and buttressed towers!
Ye gothic lights, and arch-crowned pillars high!
Fruits of a zealous heart, though humble powers,
We cannot leave you now, without a sigh.

Farewell, dear Church! No more thy Sabbath bell
Calls us to worship in thy place of prayer;
No more we hear thine organ's solemn swell
Nor mark the full response that rises there.

Farewell, thy grassy mounds, where peaceful sleeps
In its cold bed, our precious infant's clay;
But faith can triumph, e'en while nature weeps—
The Lord has given—'twas His to take away.

Farewell, our house, embosomed deep in trees,
And decked with all the garden's choicest pride—
No more we breathe thy woodbine-scented breeze,
Nor tread thy flowery alleys, side by side.

But why art thou so heavy, O my soul!
Why so disquieted, my mourning heart!
Art thou not led by duty's high control?
Has not thy Master called thee to depart?

Farewell, then, all. Though homeless now we go,
A better, brighter home to us is given;
Nor may we mourn to leave a Church below,
While Christ secures to us the Church in Heaven.

There, in that Paradise of joy above,
Farthings, and griefs, and pains shall all be o'er,
There we shall meet again with all we love,
And sighs shall breathe, and tears shall fall no more.

The Rev. Mr. Kemper, now the venerable Bishop of Wisconsin, who had officiated here for a time during the early years of his ministry, and had occasionally visited the parish with the Bishop, was now invited to become its rector, but did not. The Rev. Mr. Brunot, a young minister of promise, afterwards cut down by death in the very prime and vigor of his youth, officiated until the Rev. Dr. Upfold was called, July 27th, 1831, and entered on his duties as rector in October of the same year. This brings us down to a comparatively modern date in the history of the parish. For eighteen years Dr. Upfold ministered to this congregation as a faithful pastor. It is a needless task to speak words of praise of one who is still remembered with a strong affection by many here present. His works praise him, and many hearty prayers are offered that his declining years may be blessed, and that he may live to see still further fruits of his labor, as his once frontier Diocese of Indiana, now in the very heart and centre of the nation, grows and expands into magnificent proportions.

Truly my brethren other men have labored here and we have entered into their labors. Others have laid the foundation and we build thereon. I need hardly trace the history of the parish farther. In 1850 the Rev. Dr. Lyman entered on his duties and going abroad in 1860, the Rev. Mr. Swope was elected Rector pro-tempore. In 1862—Dr. Lyman having concluded not to return again—Mr. Swope was made Rector and in 1867 resigned to become an assistant minister of Trinity Church, New York.

The present Rectorship began October 1st, 1867.

There are two or three conditions suggested by this hasty and imperfect glance at parish history to which I would for a very brief space longer invite your thought and attention. One is the very noticeable fact that so large a number of distinguished laymen have, during the past four-score years, managed the temporal affairs of Trinity Church. Let me read the names of some whom I find among the vestrymen of that time. Nevill, Roberts, Richardson, Bedford, Ormsby, Barker, Irish, McGunnigle, Robinson, Magee, Cecil, Mowry, Davis, Forward, Beard, Volz, Poe, Long, Reno, Ennochs, Arthurs, Witty, Kerr, Holmes, Mason, Baldwin, Johnston, Israelt, Selden, Miltenberger, Quinan, Keller, Holdship, McFaden, Hogan, Hughes, Darlington, Schweppe, Metcalf, Wade, Snowden, Anderson, Shaler. There are others equally deserving of mention among the worthies of the past, but my facts, are of necessity, gathered from the vestry records. I find, for instance, such names as Cowan, Barclay, Shiras, Collins, Gregg, Butler, Brewer, Ingram, McClure and many others, who all did their share in bearing the burden and heat of the day. A list of names, my brethren, that which any parish may well be proud of as a rich heritage. Many of these were men of great influence and strength of character in their day—men of mark in nearly every profession and calling in life. Their names, I am sure, will sound familiar as household words to the ears of most of my hearers. There are two or three in this list that I must mention specially without meaning at all to disparage any of the others. For many years the name of Ormsby appears on the church records. First John Ormsby, and then Oliver. The name of Davis appears among the original list also, and for more than half a century it was continually in the vestry, first Joseph Davis and then John D. Davis, his son of the latter I need not speak words of commendation to those who knew him. He gave much time and toil freely to the church, whose interests were very near his heart. This parish owes his memory a debt of gratitude for his long continued and unwearying services.

Dr. Peter Mowry seems to have been a strong pillar of the Church in the days of its weakness, when friends were few. Long time the Senior Warden, his house was the constant place for the meeting of the vestry and almost a second home for the clergy. He died in 1833, and the vestry have put on record a sense of their very great loss. I am glad to know that a beautiful and costly window will be erected in the new church to commemoatre his long and faithful devotion.

Charles L. Volz served as Secretary of the Vestry for nearly twenty years, being all this time himself a member. It is chiefly owing to his pains-taking care that we have any history of the parish preserved. Did time permit, there are others in the list of worthies I might mention with approval, but I must hasten lest I weary you.

One other feature of this catalogue is suggestive of the ravages of time, with its changes and chances.

How few of these names appear on the Church records of to-day! Your fathers, where are they? Some of their descendants have deserted the Church and the faith for which their fathers agonized. In other instances the old family names seem almost to have perished and disappeared. Those familiar with the intermarriages of the old families may be able to point to children and grand children still among our most valued members, and worthy of their progenitors though they may not now bear their names. I would that all the early friends of this parish who have gone to their reward, might find among their descendents—whether bearing their names or not—loving hands to set up some fitting memorial of them here and thus make the history of the parish continuos, joining together the present with the past. Of those who have served as vestrymen in by gone years, I find the name of Samuel Gormly, Esq. standing at the head of the list of survivors—the oldest by right of his office. He was chosen in 1834 and served many years. I regard him, therefore, as the connecting link between the past generation and the present, a place of honor which I trust he will long be spared to fill. In 1837 Mr. J. H. Shoenberger was elected, and in 1840 Hon. Wilson McCandless, Hon. Thomas M. Howe, and Josiah King were chosen, and are still members of the vestry. This brings us down to a sufficiently modern date. Most of my hearers have done their share in making up the history which extends from then to the present day, and I very properly leave it for some other pen to write, when the breath of ages perchance shall have made our names as strangers.

Turning now from the laity to the clergy who have served this parish in the past, one is no less struck with the preponderance of able names that fill the list. Mr. Taylor, the first Rector, was a man of strong mind, more fond of Natural Science, perhaps, than of Theology. I am told by one who knew him well that so great was his love of Astronomy that he sometimes spent the entire night in the open air, watching the movements of the Heavenly bodies. Of the Revs. Mr. Carter and Mr. Thompson very little is known; their combined Rectorships covered a period of less than three years. The Rev. Mr. Richmond, who officiated here for a time, was a man of brilliant parts and belonged to a family of rare talent.

Dr. Kemper, who also officiated here temporarily when a very young man, and was afterwards honored with a call to the rectorship, is one of the best loved and most apostolic men in the House of Bishops. His gentleness and goodness are far more to be envied than his greatness. Bishop Hopkins, a name of towering strength, known the world over, poet, painter, musician, architect, author, theologian. Time would fail me to recount all of his marvellous gifts. Bishop Upfold, the tender, loving pastor, friend of the poor, a good man, full of the Holy Ghost, and of faith. Under his able administration of the parish it fairly overflowed, and a second parish was formed. Dr. Lyman, genial, warm-hearted and able. During his decade of years St. Peters was built, as another off-shoot from Trinity. He is known familiarly to the whole Church as one who has done so much to make our American Services known abroad. For years he has maintained a mission in the heart of Papal Rome, proclaiming the truth in the face of corruption and error and carrying the principles of the Anglican Reformation to the very doors of the Vatican! Dr. Swope, younger, indeed, but hardly less known to the Church for the noble and successful stand he took in the founding of this diocese. Elected to a place among the clergy of the oldest and wealthiest corporation in the whole Church, he is not unworthy to be named with those who preceded him. It will surely be pardonable in me if I feel a slight glow of pride, that my own name, however unworthy, is henceforth to be associated with such as these. As I have already said, the others who served here have gone to their reward, and though in earthly record they be little prized or spoken of, I would fain believe that in the imperishable record of the sky, in the Lamb's Book of Life their names stand very high. The Rev. Alexander Varian, lately deceased, was at one time an assistant minister here. The Rev. Richard Smith, who still survives, was for a long time engaged as an out-door missionary to the poor. The Rev. Richard S. Smith, Rector of the church at Uniontown, served as an assistant, first in teaching the parish school, and afterwards in the chancel. He is faithfully laboring now at one of the out posts of this diocese, still remembered with affection here.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor, well known to the church as a successful educator of youth, founder of Kenwood School for boys at New Brighton, served here as assistant minister for some time. So, also, did the Rev. Dr. Sebastian Hodges, of Grace Church, Newark, N. J. And the present faithful and acceptable assistant will, I am confident, if God spares him in life and strength, leave a record of good deeds behind him that shall not fall below any of others.

The growth and extension of the church here, as well as the growth of the city, may be seen in the fact that it was not until 1837 that a second parish, St. Andrews, was organized. Now there are in the city proper nine parishes, and in the city and its immediate surroundings there are thirteen parishes—each with its settled pastor—each a centre of influence and power. When we remember that an overwhelming majority of the people here were not favorably disposed to the Episcopal Church, there is no need to be ashamed of such results. But if we are only faithful and true the next half century will, under the blessing of God, have far greater results to show.

It is surely something—nay a great deal—in this age of changes, to have an unbroken history of four score years! Trinity is still fondly called the mother parish—and a faithful mother she has been—taking always her part in every good work, and permitting none of her daughters to outstrip her. May she long continue to hold a first place, not merely in the affections of her children; but in advancing the interests of the Savior's Kingdom. She shows no signs of decay, no signs of decrepitude or old age, but is now renewing her strength for undertaking a higher, nobler work than ever. The church building—whose days are numbered—in which we are assembled for the last time, has undergone various changes. In 1849, the tower was burnt and speedily replaced by the present one. The roof and chancel have been materially altered, but the main features of the building remain the same. On the 26th day of January, 1863—the feast of the conversion of St. Paul—a new peal of bells, the gift of one to whom this parish owes much, was rung for the first time, on the occasion of the consecrationof the first Bishop of Pittsburgh here.

Then for the last time the venerable Bishop Hopkins was seen within the walls that were vocal with the praises of God and silent witnesses of his skill, who had planned and built them. Soon they were draped in mourning for his death.

And now, dear brethren, my task is done—a labor of love I should rather call it—and it remains for me but to speak the word that will bring pain to some and joy to some. The number of those who saw this house in her first glory is growing small indeed—they will feel that in its removal another of the landmarks of their early years is gone. I can almost divine the tender associations that are at this moment welling up in such hearts—thoughts, perchance, of those who once sat by their side here, joining in the same prayers, singing the same holy songs who are now translated and taught to sing in sweeter strains the song of Moses and the Lamb. Many, many are the sacred associations that gather around the Church of God—if our lives have been truly sanctified and given up to Him. Can you not recall some quiet hour when, weary with life's struggle, you have found rest here—holy thoughts gained possession of your soul and you felt of a truth God was near? Such hours are the beginning of heaven upon the earth—foretastes of the future. How often have you knelt here broken-hearted, and the cry went up to the throne of grace, beseeching God for mercy! Here some of you (may I not say many of you?) were born anew into the kingdom of God's dear Son.

Here your children were sealed with the sign of Christ's redeeming love. Here holy hands were laid upon your head in blessing, Here the tender joy of your first communion clusters. Here, perhaps, you recall the hour when two loving hearts were made one by the authority and with the blessing of the Church. Here the last sad offices of affection have been said over some you loved in life. Indeed your life has been bound up with the life of the parish more intimately far then you have yourself either knew or suspected. Thoughts of separated families and broken ties will, I am sure, be revived by this day's services. The old men wept when the new temple was begun, because their lives were identified with another and their affections could not take new root nor throw out new branches.

But, my brethren, it is right and proper that these changes, sad in themselves as they are, should come to us in our pilgrimage here. They are intended to remind us that nothing here is fixed and permanent, that change and decay are written by the finger of God on us and on all about us. We have here no continuing city, but we seek one to come whose builder and maker is God—not these perishing earthly houses, but a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

It is an unfailing law of nature that that which waxes old must pass away, but Christ has taught us by the side of the open grave to look up through our tears rejoicingly, in the firm hope of a resurrection. So I would point you to-day to look on and up to the completion of another house, rising on the ruins of the old, that shall be a spiritual home we trust for generations yet unborn and "The glory of the latter house shall be greater than the glory of the former."

Farewell forever then to the dear old pile, rich with the garnered memories of more than two score years. May we not be unworthy inheritors of the blessing handed down to us from our fathers. May our zeal and our love abound. May the solemn warnings here spoken not have been in vain, and when the secrets of all hearts shall be disclosed, may it appear that many souls were born here for Christ, that for many this church was indeed the very gate of Heaven. The Lord our God be with us as He was with our Fathers. Let Him not leave us nor forsake us.

The Catholic Jubilee.

Yesterday morning in all the Catholic churches of the diocese the Aecuminical Council Jubilee was commenced. In the Cathedral the services were of a highly interesting character. Rt. Rev. Bishop Domenec officiated at the altar, offering solemn Pontifical High Mass, and was assisted by a large number of clergymen, deacons and clerks. The choir was especially strengthened and never sang to better advantage. St. Cecelia's brass band filled the gallery and discoursed excellent music, adding materially to the interest of the occasion. The pulpit was occupied by Very Rev. J. Hickey, who briefly referred to the Jubilee, explaining its nature and instructing the faithful on the conditions necessary for the procurement of the plenary indulgence vouchsafed by the Head of the Church. The essential requirements are three days of rigid fasting, alms giving, church visitation, and an approach to the sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist. The Jubilee is regarded as a great event in the Catholic Church, and during its two weeks' continuance much religious fervor and enthusiasm will be manifested in all the congregations of persuasion in the diocese.

Religious.—Yesterday, Rev. George Hays, pastor elect of the Central Presbyterian Church, Allegheny, (formerly Rev. T. X. Orr's,) occupied his pulpit for the first time. The Reverend gentleman was formerly pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, and bears a high reputation as a minister and the active Christian worker.

THE DARKENED NURSERY.

There's room enough in the nursery now,
'Twas crowded a little before—
For when the crib in the corner sat
The rockers came close to the door:
But the light was sweet and the air was soft,
And the room was filled with cheer,
For we all were chained to the spot
By the voice of the baby dear.

Where is the sunshine—where is the noise?
Where are the playthings gone?
What shall I do with my empty arms
Sitting alone, alone?
What shall I do with the empty crib?
Where shall I set his chair?
Must the daring little one's clothes come down?
Oh, let me leave them there!

Nay, fold them up softly and put them by,
Life is better through this pain:
Lay up the carriage—check the deep sigh,
Take up life's duties again:
Turn the face fully toward Heaven and God;
His sweet peace shall keep thee still;
Bow low before Him, kissing His rod,
And murmur, love—"Just as God will."

GENERAL NEWS.

LOUISVILLE grand juries are endeavoring to suppress gambling in that city.

A COMMERCIAL COLLEGE for colored youth is to be organized in Washington City.

THE Woman's Hospital in New York recently received a donation of $80,000 from an unknown source.

THE International Union of Locomotive Firemen, in session in Cincinnati several days last week, adjourned to meet Sept. 1, 1870, at Philadelphia.

THE rector of Memorial church, Westport, Conn., was horse-whipped in the street last week, by a Mr. Ketchum. Family difficulty was the cause.

A. T. STEWART has sold twenty shawls this season worth $2,000 each, and one worth $5,700. One woman ran up a bill of $20,000 at his store in two months.

THE wholesale clothing trade of Cincinnati was greater during the past month than ever before in the history of that city. The increase is due to the Southern trade.

IT HAS been decided in a Brooklyn court that a citizen is not bound by law to assist a policeman in arresting a man unless the officer has a warrant from a competent court.

THE machinery, tools and fixtures of the late Spencer Repeating Rifle Company, of Boston, were sold at auction last week, the total proceeds of the sale reaching about $138,000.

THE freshmen outnumber the sophs at Middletown, Conn., the present term, more than two to one, are stout, robust fellows, and their wish not to be "hazed" is scrupulously respected.

THE organ of Archbishop Purcell, of Cincinnati, declares that "it will be a glorious day for Catholics in this country when, under the blows of justice and morality, our school system will be shivered to pieces."

THERE were received in Sacramento, on the 19th ult., by railroad, 10,000 dozen eggs. They can be carried thither and sold at fifty cents per dozen, which is ten cents less than is charged for the California article.

PETER DE LANCY, a colored lothario, was married a few days ago in Cincinnati. Upon the wedding night a select company of his "old flames" dragged him from his nuptial couch, and gave him a terrible cowhiding.

D. WILSON, baggage master on the Lafayette and Indiana Railroad, while collecting fares from the passengers on the roofs of the cars, was killed at a bridge near Indianapolis, having neglected to stoop as the train approached.

A FOUNDLING in Columbus, Ohio, had a card attached to it, on which was written: "Compliments of Lucille to 'Darling,' and requests him to accept this little present, as a token of her continued remembrance of him. In great haste."

WILLIAM TRACY is the name of an estimable keeper who has just been dismissed from a Yorkshire insane asylum because when it was his duty to give a patient a warm bath he deputed the task to two lunatics, who boiled the man to death.

ON Saturday night of last week Mrs. Mary George, of Lexington, Richland county, Ohio, committed suicide by jumping into a cistern, having arisen from her bed without arousing her husband. She was highly respected, and leaves three children, the youngest a babe.

COMMODORE Vanderbilt replied "I don't know" to every question of a World reporter, sent to interview him, adding to his last repetition, "You can't get anything out of me. I suppose (walking away) that it is a combination of darned thieves to put money in their pocket."

AT San Antonio, Texas, on the 18th ult., a boy named Buchanan, sixteen years old, was arrested for horse stealing, but when taken he was identified as the same boy who murdered a man named Hennessey, in Kansas, some time ago, and for whom a reward of one thousand dollars was offered.

AT Marysville, Ohio, last week, Mrs. Jagers, engaged at her work in another part of her house, heard her child scream suddenly, and hastening to the room where she left it, she saw a large black snake, with head erect and menacing attitude, making its way into the room. It was but a little distance from the child, and evidently meant to attack, but was itself attacked and killed.

ELEVEN divorces were granted at the August term of the Court of Common Pleas, at Mansfield, Ohio, (Richland county). The Herald, published there, thinks this "another slight evidence that Mansfield is rapidly assuming metropolitan proportions," and expects soon to hear the cry on the trains passing through that place, "Mansfield, twenty minutes for divorces," as they say is now the case at Indianapolis.

MRS. OTTENDORFER is the sole proprietor of the largest German daily newspaper in the city of New York. Many years ago her husband died, leaving her a large family of children and a small paper. She went earnestly to work at once, attending herself to all the details of the office, and she now controls a very rich and powerful journal. She drives to her office in the morning, looks after its multitudinous affairs, and returns to her elegant home at three o'clock in the afternoon.

A CERTAIN newspaper in Georgia praises the efficiency of the postmaster of the city. The latter repudiates the flattery, and says that it is only for the purpose of inducing the postmaster to wink at the violation of the postoffice laws by the editor. The card of the postmaster, in a rival newspaper, concludes by saying that the editor, "knowing his own price to be very low indeed, has undertaken to buy his peace with ring-boned flattery, and proposes to throw himself in, just to make good measure. The offer is declined."

IT is stated that negotiations are now in progress between the friends of the Chicago Baptist Theological Seminary and the owners of the great Hengstenberg Library, of 12,000 rare works on Biblical, theological subjects, Old Testament archæology, geography, history, etc., for the purchase of this valuable collection of books. This library is probably the most complete of the kind in the world, and would be a very great acquisition here. The refusal of it has been given for $6,000 in currency. All that now remains to be done is to raise the money, which will, no doubt, soon be effected.

A PARIS correspondent describes a sweet thing in sleeve-buttons: "One gold button, as large as a small cheese-plate, is covered with crystal, under which is the rouge et noir roulette; the other, its companion, contains, under crystal cover, three dice; a touch of the nail sets a little hook going, and round turns the roulette disc in unison with the other button, which, when touched, also sets one of the dice leaping summersaults: when both stop the die on one cuff shows a number, and either rouge or noir stands at the hook. In this manner gentlemen can gamble in railway trains, in bed, at the cafe, anywhere."

AN Illinois notary public, commissioned in 1853, for four years, continued to act until 1866, when he died, his commission not having been renewed. In 1859 he took the acknowledgment of a deed, which, being sent to the Secretary of State, that officer refused to attach a certificate that the deceased was an acting notary, &c., for the reason that the notary's commission had expired by limitation, and not being renewed he (the Secretary) could not certify to official acts in 1859. The Governor sustained this decision, and also expressed grave doubts if the sureties of the notary could be held responsible for his acts after the expiration of the term of four years for which he was appointed.

A GERMAN named Uhland committed suicide at Bolivar, Tuscarawas county, Ohio, last week, under the following circumstances: He had stolen some boards out of the school house; was arrested, bound over, confessed, and was fined twenty-five dollars. He sold his house and bought in Canton. Subsequently repented this step, and tried to buy his Bolivar house back, but the purchaser refused to sell. Uhland was very gloomy about the matter and declared that he would not leave his old house until he was carried away. On Thursday he went into his carpenter shop and was heard to pray loudly. The report of a gun startled them outside, who, upon entering, found him dead. He had placed the gun so that with a stick he could reach the trigger, and the ball passed directly down into the top of his head.

STATE POLITICS.

TIOGA proposes to have a Republican majority of 3,000 this year.

THE true Democrat is the man who carries out the principles of Democracy.

THE Press says: The Republicans of Philadelphia are going to answer this fall the disputed question as to "who struck Billy Patterson."

TWENTY ONE Republican meetings are to be held in Lancaster county during October. The County Committee is very energetic there this year.

THE New York Sun says that Geary will carry Pennsylvania this fall by 10,000 majority. The canvass is alding the Republican ticket every day.

EIGHT dollars and ninety cents is the amount of taxes paid by Asa Packer, who is reported to be worth twenty millions. The poor man pays the taxes for him.

THE doubts about our honesty to pay our national debt are costing the country $30,000,000 a year in extra interest. These doubts are caused by the Democratic repudiationists.

THE man who is too careless to go and see that his name is on the list of voters, in time, doesn't deserve to have a vote. We hope no Republican will find himself disfranchised by his own negligence.

A GRAND mass meeting is to be held in Beaver, on Tuesday, October 5th, and Senator Scott and Messrs. Grow and Swope are to be the speakers. On the evening of the same day the same gentlemen will speak in New Brighton.

THE Democratic papers fly at the head of their columns "For Governor, Asa Packer, of Carbon county," and then they declare that he does not live there at all, but that his home is in Philadelphia. Why can't they tell the truth?—Lebanon Courier.

JOHN W. GEARY, the brave soldier, or Packer, the rebel millionaire, must be our Governor for the next three years. Can loyal men hesitate whom to chose? Vote for the man who fought his country's battles, and periled his life for the the Union.

L. W. CRAWFORD is the Republican candidate for Assembly in the McKean district, and James H. Webb has been nominated for Assembly by the Republicans of the Bradford district, in place of Mr. Ackley, who was killed in a railway collision.

THE Pottsvill Miner's Journal says: Packer will fall off largely in the coal regions where he is best known. The bone and sinew of our population repudiate the grasping monopolist who owes his immense wealth to the labor of the workingmen he oppressed.

ON the 7th of August last the Republicans of Huntingdon county voted on the "Crawford County System," but until last week the return was kept a secret. The Republican, however, has unearthed it, and it appears that the system was carried by a vote of 291 for to 138 against.

THE Democratic party of Pennsylvania in Convention assembled, in 1860, resolved that in the event of the separation of the South from the North it was the duty of the Keystone State to follow her Southern sisters. No wonder Chairman Mutchler wants the past forgotten.

THE Harrisburg Telegraph says: Every knave and scoundrel in the country is opposed to the Registry Law. Every honest voter thanks God for its wholesome provisions. We heard a prominent Democrat declare that "Geary could easily be defeated if it was not for that d—d Registry Law!"

WHY does not the Democratic State Central Committee furnish the people of Pennsylvania with the record of Cyrus L. Pershing? His votes in the Legislature during the war, on all measures looking to the support of our soldiers in the field, would prove instructive reading to loyal men.

THE Chambersburg Repository says that the Democratic aspirants for the Congressional nomination next fall are taking time by the forelock. There are already in the field from that district viz: Wm. S. Stenger, of the Valley Spirit, B. F. Meyers, of the Harrisburg Patriot, and Alexander Coffroth, an ex-M. C. Thus far Stenger is ahead.

AN exchange says the Copperheads are busy at secret work. They are canvassing every district in the county, and expect to get out their full vote. They think they are catching the Republicans napping, and are already congratulating each other on their expected gain. Republicans, will you sleep while the enemy are working for your overthrow?

WE desire it to be distinctly understood, in the remotest corners of the State, as it is known at his home, that the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, was in the closest sympathy with the peace or secession wing of the Northern Democracy during the war; that he was one of those who rejoiced in our defeats and mourned over our victories.

LUZERNE, the location of the celebrated coffee-pot naturalization machine, is not prosperiug under the rule of Democracy. While for four years past, under a Republican State government, the assessment of State taxes in this county has been diminished nearly five-fold, the assessment of county taxes has regularly doubled, trebled, and quadrupled the levy of 1866.

THE Republicans of Mercer were never so active in a political campaign as now. No less then twenty-seven township meetings are advertised to take place in the county within the next ten days. A meeting is to be held in Mercer county, on Tuesday, October 9th, at which Hon. John Scott, Hon. W. W. Ketchum, Col. T. M. Bayne and H. Bucher Swope, Esq., are announced to be the speakers.

THE Clearfield Journal says: We are reliably informed that $5,000 have been sent to Clearfield by the Mutchler State Committee, for distribution among the faithful. Every Democrat who doesn't get his share of the funds will get cheated. If they don't keep a sharp lookout the whole "pile" will be divided among the Clearfield "ring." Now is the time to call for it—before the election. After you vote you will get no money.

STATE ITEMS.

THE G. A. R. post at Erie are preparing for a grand entertainment the coming winter.

MR. JOSEPH KAHNWEILER has sold the Carlisle Sulphur Springs to Col. Omit, of Harrisburg, for $3,000.

THE Welsh Congregationalists of Pennsylvania held their annual convention at Ebensburg, Cambria county, last week.

EDWARD BURK, charged with the murder of George Settlemoyer, in Summerhill township, Cambria county, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000.

SOLOMON McCULLOUGH, Esq., formerly of Cambria county, and a well known canal and railroad contractor, died in Lancaster on the 24th ult., aged 82 years.

CENTRE county boasts of a large lass over whose head but thirteen summer suns have rolled, who weighs 240 pounds. The Republican attests the statement, having seen "the scales and the damsel on them."

JOHN M. WHITEHILL, residing in White Pine county, Nevada, recently sent to his mother, Mrs. M. Whitehill, of Hookstown, Beaver county, a silver brick of the value of $130.76 specie. He's a "brick" of a boy.

Mr. L. N. FLYNT, a well known insurance agent in Erie, stooped down to pat a little dog in Gilmore's millinery store, when the ugly little whelp jumped at and bit a piece out of Mr. Flynt's under lip, making a painful wound and an ugly mutilation.

RECENTLY, while an excavation was being made on the highway which crosses the East Diamond, in Waterford, Erie county, the remains of a human being were found which are supposed to be those of a French soldier who must have been buried there about one hundred and twenty years ago.

ON Monday of last week Miss Bridget Markham, while sitting at her workstand in the house of Mr. F. S. Andrews, at Shamburg, Venango county, accidentally upset the lamp by the light of which she was sewing. Falling upon the floor, it broke and set fire to the carpet, and from thence the flames were communicated to her clothing. In her fright the unfortunate girl ran out of the house, screaming frantically for help, but before assistance could be rendered she was terribly burned, and died the next morning.

ON the 21st ult., a man named Roach stole two horses from the stable of Manfull & Ross, contractors on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad, four miles from Ohio Pile Falls. Mrs. Manfull, who had observed the theft, and who was threatened with violence by Roach, notified her husband, and pursuit was at once made. Mr. Manfull and his partner, Mr. Ross, overtook Roach near Ursiana, in Somerset county. Seeing he was pursued, Roach tied the horse to a fence, took refuge in an old house, and prepared for a fight. He looked out of a window, seemingly prepared for a shot at his pursuers, when Mr. Manfull discharged a revolver at him, the ball taking effect in his breast and causing his death next day. Mr. Manfull gave himself up to the authorities and Mr. Ross was arrested as accessory to the homicide.

THE Erie conference of the M. E. Church meet at Franklin, Venango county, on Wednesday of last week to hold its 34th annual session. This conference embraces the counties of Erie, Crawford, Mercer, Venango, Clarion and parts of Lawrence, Butler and Elk in Pennsylvania, and in Ohio, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Lake, Geauga, Portage, and in parts of Cayuga and Summit; also Chautauqua, and parts of Cattaragus counties in New York. At the last conference there were reported 260 pastors, 370 lay preachers and about 33,000 church members: also, 522 Sunday schools, having a membership of over 42,000 teachers and scholars. The Conference owned 387 churches and 143 parsonages, valued at a million and a half dollars. The aggregate salaries paid the pastors was $155,305, and the contribution of the churches to the Bible and other societies was about $29,000.

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhœa, and sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 10 A.M. to 2 P.M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, October 2, 1869.

There is considerable complaint made by business men, especially those operating in grain, in regard to the discrimination made against Pittsburgh by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. At the present rates of freight there is no chance whatever to ship from here east, and with no outlet, grain merchants are obliged to restrict their operations to the local trade, which, as is well known by all who are posted in the business, does not amount to much when there are so engaged in it. It is also said that points west of here, on the line of the Fort Wayne Road, are enabled to ship through to Philadelphia, at a relatively less cost than can be shipped from Pittsburgh to the same point, and this, if so, and we have every reason to belive that it is, is unfair, and if possible should be remedied.

We understand that a paper has been forwarded to the proper officers of the Penna. R. R. Co., signed by nearly every firm in Pittsburgh, engaged in the flour and grain business, setting forth the grievances above complained of, and asking for relief, and it is to be hoped that it will receive that consideration which its merits and importance demand. It is well knewn that the grain business in Pittsburgh has been languishing for several years, and for no other cause than the one alluded to, and it is earnestly hoped that the proper authorities, after being informed of the importance of the case, will apply the proper remedy, and that, too, without any unnecessary delay.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was rising slowly last evening, with about five feet in the channel. We had heavy rains during Saturday night, and it is probable that there will be more water yet. Weather cloudy and unsettled, with every appearance of more rain.

The Camelia, from St. Louis, is the only arrival we have to report.

The Belle, from Parkersburg, arrived and departed as usual, though considerably behind.

The Messenger, Capt Jesse Dean, will be the first boat out for New Orleans.

—Capt. John L. Rhodes was in Cincinnati on Thursday looking after the Leonidas.

—The Lorena is loading at Cincinnati for Memphis, in command of Capt. Sam Sluman.

—The Mollie Ebert was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday.

—Captain Bill Patterson, the famous mate, is engaged for the mammoth Thompson Dean.

—The steamer Right Way has been sold at New Orleans to Captain George Wilkings for $12,000.

—The Sallie left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh Saturday, and will probably reach this port on Wednesday.

—The Knoxville Press and Herald, of Tusday, says: The river, since the late rains on Sunday night, has risen, up to last night, twelve inches.

—Capt. Joseph Dalferes, at New Orleans, has purchased the steamer Pioneer, and will place her in the Lafourche trade, in place of the Right Way. The price paid was $6,000.

—The Evansville Journal, of Wednesday, says: The J. L. Graham was sold yesterday for $6,250, to parties from Texas, who will take her to Galveston, and thence to the Colorado river.

—The express safe, and another, that were on the steamer Phantom when she exploded, September 15th, were found Thursday afternoon in the river a hundred yards above the wreck. The $4,000 they contained was found, water-soaked, but otherwise all right.

—The Kanawha Salt Company will keep up their organization, but transfer all salt made by them to the Ohio River Salt Company, at their (the K. S. Co.) furnaces. This arrangement will give the Ohio Salt Company exclusive control of the interests of the West.

—The Cincinnati Gazette, in noticing the sale of the St. Charles, says: When the boat was first offered, Capt. D. started her at $16,000. This was a disappointment to some Southern steamboatmen who came here to bid, expecting to buy her for $10,000. They will go home without a splendid sidewheel steamboat. Capt. Dravo is expected to put the St. Charles in the Pittsburgh trade as a regular packet.

—Wm. Henry C. Hilliker, the well-known river editor of the Cincinnati Volksfreund, was drowned in the Ohio river at that place on Thursday last, while returning to Cincinnati from Newport. As the boat landed on the Cincinnati side, it struck the wharf-boat rather hard, and Mr. H. was standing on the guard. He was so intent on reaching his place of business that he thought of nothing else, lost his balance, and fell overboard. His body was not recovered at latest advices. He leaves a wife and three or four children to mourn his loss.

—Mr. Killker, river editor of the Cincinnati Volksfreund, reported drowned, is alive. He made his usual appearance on the Cincinnati landing on Friday morning, notwithstanding all the papers of that day published obituary notices of him. It was simply a case of mistaken ideditity. A man was seen to fall into the river from the ferry float, and some person near, who had noticed the man standing on the float, but not particularly, expressed the belief that it was Mr. Hilker, and from that the report spread. The most singular circumstance of the whole affair is that the Volksfreund, for which Mr. Hilker furnished his river report, as usual, Thursday evening, contained quite a lengthy obituary of him yesterday morning.

THE MEETING TO-NIGHT!

Let none of our friends forget the grand Republican rally to be held this evening at City Hall, at which Senator JOHN SCOTT and other distinguished speakers will be present to address their fellow-citizens on the important issues of the hour. Ample arrangements for the accommodation of ladies have been made, and it is hoped that the meeting will prove the most encouraging and memorable of the campaign.

THEY are figuring up, at Washington, a Republican majority in Pennsylvania. A full vote next week will furnish figures vastly more reliable. And we shall have them.

IT IS said that the Methodist Book scandal, which first appeared in the N. Y. Times, was the immediate cause for the recent severance of Mr. Bigelow's editorial connection with that journal.

THE Chicago Journal expresses great confidence that the frosts have as yet done no injury to the corn crop of the Northwest, which is likely to be the largest in quantity, and in quality one of the best ever produced in this country,

SO MANY candidates offer for the Senatorial places from Virginia, that the election is likely to be deferred until after the final admission of the State. That little circumstance would make a great hole in our Attorney General's logic.

THE ARCTIC researches of Captain Hayes have settled the question that Sir John Franklin was the first actually to solve the problem of the North-West Passage. Having, on previous voyages from the West, sailed Eastward as far as Cape Herschell, the Westward Expedition which resulted fatally, penetrated beyond that point and so completed the chain of communication. A late navigator, Captain McClure, in the Investigator, lived to achieve the same success and to receive the reward therefor.

A SO CALLED Cuban privateer has found the open seas. The Hornet is a fast sailing, well-manned and heavily armed steamship, and threatens serious mischief to the Spanish commerce. She is legally no privateer, but simply a pirate—to be so regarded in every port and by every flag in the world except those of Mexico, the only power which has recognized the belligerency of the insurgents. She has successively slipped through the fingers of our own authorities at Philadelphia and New York, and of the British authorities at Halifax, going finally to sea from the latter port. It is thus fortunate that England and Spain cannot turn the Alabama tables upon us. But our own obligations of international duty toward Spain, nevertheless, are not thereby released. Our navy should be forthwith instructed to capture this pirate, after her first overt act, and bring her into our ports for adjudication. Spain can settle the question with England as she sees fit.

IN THE Northumberland district the Democrats are running two candidates for Senator, both claiming to be regular, with about equal show. These are Mr. Buckalew, late United States Senator, and Mr. Chalfant, the editor of a newspaper at Danville. The Republicans have nominated Mr. Whitmoyer, of Columbia county, with what chances, if any, it is hard to tell at this distance. The district is composed of Columbia, Montour, Northumberland and Sullivan counties, and polled, last year, a Democratic majority of 3,097.

Mr. Buckalew has all the Democratic newspapers on his side except Mr. Chalfant's. How far this circumstance may be taken as an index to popular opinion in the party, we shall not undertake to determine. But it is clear that the hindmost of their candidates, if both remain in the field, must poll a respectable number of votes, or Mr. Whitmoyer will certainly be defeated. Fortunately, the Republican majority in the next Senate will not depend on his election.

IT is a fact worthy of remark that the Democracy of the western section of the State, and indeed, we think, of the entire Commonwealth, have in the present campaign thus far failed to hold a single public meeting, conducting their part of the canvass in a quiet and undemonstrative manner. This course they hope will win, but it seems that they are particularly distrustful of the people, since no open avowal of their policy or principles dare be made. The simple truth is that they are ashamed to be found occupying the same old positions in which they have so often been stormed and defeated, and from which they have never dared to make a progressive step. Their silent campaign, with its mysterious dark lantern proceedings, certainly presents a striking contrast with the open and fearless course of the Republicans, who are everywhere aroused to the importance of the issues involved in the canvass, and who are anxious to proclaim to the whole world the principles they have espoused.

LAST WEEK the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company resumed its monthly sales of coal at auction. Ninety thousand tons were sold, in lots, and at low prices, lump bringing only $5.12 and smaller sizes in proportion, but none exceeding $6.50. Of course these are wholesale rates, and retail prices, to compensate for handling and loss by abrasion, with the addition of profits, must be at least $1 higher, and perhaps $2. This decline sustains abundantly the assurances given by the leading coal companies during the panic about coal two months ago, when they offered to contract at $7 for winter delivery.

This falling off in prices, while it suits consumers exactly, does not gratify the miners. The point of depression is nearly reached at which "the basis" provides for a strike with a view to sending up prices, by diminishing the supply. In the Mahanoy district, Schuylkill county, the miners in nearly all the collieries have actually struck, demanding an advance of fifty per cent., which it is clear enough the employers cannot concede, unless the price of coal shall advance. Negotiations are progressing between the operators and miners, but we do not see any probability of their coming to an agreement.

THE STRATEGY OF FAINT HEART.

The New York Tribune has no choice between the opposing tickets in Texas and Mississippi; and it insists that the Federal Administration shall indicate none. Why? Because that journal apprehends that the XVth Article would thereby be endangered. The Tribune may dismiss its own sense of anxious responsibility in the premises. The people of those two States have themselves drawn the lines of discrimination clear and sharp.

Every Republican in Texas supports the Davis ticket, and every rebel—no matter whether he calls himself Democrat or Conservative—will vote the ticket just set in the field by a convention of opposition editors. The Hamilton movement has gone up; or all that is left of it means nothing else but the disruption of the Republican party of the State. Does the Tribune suppose that with the defeat of Davis the Article would be ratified, except for the fact that no reconstruction is otherwise possible? It is true that either party, if successful, must ratify that proposition, but is it nothing to secure the control of the State government in sound Republican hands? And shall the President deny the legitimate influence of the Federal government against a murderous faction of which Gen. Reynolds has exposed the true character to the world, and which, in all these loyal States, finds not one to defend it except the editor of the Tribune.

We have a report that the Administration's avowal of sympathy with the Davis ticket so stirs up the local pugnacity that twenty more Republican speakers are to take the field for the Hamilton ticket. Very likely! Drawing the lines straight and sharp, in the midst of so much previous confusion, usually results in unmasking a large amount of pretension, and Texan Republicanism will be the purer and stronger for the weeding which this report indicates. Whether the cause of sincere Unionism is, for the moment, to gain or to lose thereby, its permanent and effective advantage demands that the discriminations be fearlessly made and adhered to without flinching. Hamilton and his "twenty or more Republican" advocates will, in due time, report themselves at the end of their march within the opposition lines, and it is a loss of time, and trifling with the situation, to attempt to purchase their adhesion to a sincere Republicanism at a price which would permanently bankrupt the party.

So in Mississippi. Ratification is also an indispensable condition there, which neither party can or will disregard. Gen. Alcorn, heading the Union ticket, declares that an opposition triumph "would sweep away all the results of peace, order and prosperity which have so far attended the restoration of civil government in the State." He stands with his Convention, upon the broadest platform of equal rights. Against him and his ticket, the party of murderers who are working for a Ku-klux victory, and whom the Tribune begs the President to let alone, are straining every effort to create a reign of terror in order to overawe the polls. Gen. Ames reports, since last March, thirty-two murders, thirteen deadly assaults and as many other flagrant outrages—the perpetrators, every man of them, the rebel lambs whose sweet voices the Tribune begs for the new Article.

If the Tribune had had its crotchety way, and no condition precedent, in the reconstruction act, existed to tie the hands of its dear friends who control the Virginia Legislature, how much ratification would the Article there receive?

This New York journal scolds the folly of the Administration in rendering a tardy support, or any support at all, to the Stokes wing in Tennessee, declaring that it should have "exacted a pledge, from the rebels enfranchised by Senter, that they would ratify the Article." This is a crowning exhibition of the Tribune's ignorance and presumption. Every rebel in the new Tennessee Legislature stands already pledged, from every stump and in every platform of the late campaign, to ratify that Article, and the pledge is worth no more than that would have been which the Tribune proposes—not even the paper it covered or the breath for its utterance.

Out upon such politics! Let us be thankful that we have a more sensible and practical Republicanism at the White House than in Printing House Square. The President heeds, and accords with, the universal demand of a loyal nation that the only party of liberty, peace and equality in the South shall never vainly ask the effective countenance of a Republican Administration. The XVth Article is to be secured at last by resolute and downright work, under a flag which is not to be mistaken, and not by the timid, vacillating and point-no-point policy of finesse which the Tribune blindly clings to.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 3, 1869.

The Times asserts positively that notwithstanding the denial of the fact by Marshal Barlow, the steamer Alabama, under command of Captain Limeburne, left the port last Sunday evening for Cuba, carrying several hundred men and an extensive supply of munitions for the Cuban revolutionary army. Her armament consisted of thirteen pieces of heavy ordnance, two thousand Remington rifles, and a large amount of powder and ordnance stores. Exactly five hundred and thirteen men, among whom were one hundred and sixty-eight of the disastrous Whitney expedition, which was seized at Gardiner's Island last summer, took passage on her. The steamer Entrupe has not yet gone to sea.

The brig B. F. Nash was recently suspected of having concealed arms on board, but a thorough search proved it to be a false report.

The steamer Cuba, formerly the Hornet, is reported to have been off Barngate on Thursday last. She was seen about five p. m. by a pilot who returned here yesterday, who spoke her. He describes her as being under sail with banked fires, evidently saving coal. She was steering S. S. E. Her commander, Captain Higgins, was formerly in the United States Navy, but during the war forsook his command, and become a Confederate officer."

A member of the firm of Lockwood & Co., denies, upon authority; the rumor that the liabilities of their house approach anywhere near the sum metioned—between twenty and thirty millions of dollars—while their losses have not yet been fully developed. It is positively asserted they are not involved to half this extent.

It is proposed by some members of the Gold Board Exchange to commence at once the work of weeding out the "lame ducks" in the Board.

The rules which were suspended by the Gold Exchange on Thursday will go into operation on Monday, unless further suspended by the Exchange. Should the rules be enforced on Monday, parties who have failed to make settlements will be liable to have their gold sold out, and will also be liable to fines for their delinquency.

Yesterday morning the French steamer Villa de Paris took on board twenty-two French Canadians for Rome. They are the third division of Papal recruits. Several Canadian priests accompany them. These new recruits are to replace those Zouaves whose term of service has expired.

A special despatch from Fernandina, Florida, yesterday, states that the vessels of the Cuban expedition had sailed before Marshal Barlow's despatch to detain them was received. Two hundred recruits for the Cuban army arrived there yesterday from Macon, Ga.

An American revenue cutter, and three Spanish gun boats, are off Cedar Keys on the look out for Cuban reinforcements.

A New Orleans special of yesterday reports that the steamship Lillian left pass a' L'outre early yesterday morning for Florida ports. The steamer Teaser is still there, with no preparations for sea.

A Washington special states that the Government has not decided to take any action in the case of the Cuban privateer Hornet, of Cuba, nor is it probable she will be interfered with, unless she commits some depredations on American commerce. The Administration takes the view that under the circumstances, the Hornet cannot be considered strictly a pirate, and the United States is not bound to attempt her capture.

THE CAPITAL.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, October 3, 1869.

THE ADMINISTRATION AND THE GOLD PANIC.

As comments have been made in the newspapers affecting the Administration in connection with the recent gold panic, and much interest is felt on the subject, the Washington agent of the Associated Press to-night called upon the President to ascertain whether there was any foundation for the insinuation, or direct charges against the administration. The President conversed with the utmost frankness on the subject, and said he had not thought proper to publicly contradict the statements concerning himself, as he had done nothing whatever to influence the money market, or to afford any advantges to private parties. While in New York he had many voluntary advisers, but he repeatedly said to them that the Administration always held itself in a position to act as it seemed best, and free to make any changes of policy for the public interest. In the course of the conversation he stated that while on the eve of going to Newport, Jas. Fisk, Jr., came on board the steamer at New York and said to the President that Gould had sent him down to ask that he would privately give them a little intimation as to what the Administration was going to do on the financial question. He replied that the giving of such information would not be fair, and asked Fisk whether he did not think so himself. Fisk admitted that it would not be fair. The President then informed him that whenever the Administration was going to change its action or policy, the Secretary of the Treasury would give notice through the newspapers, as usual, so that all might at the same time know what it was, thus excluding any possible charge of favoritism. On the morning of the panic Secretary Boutwell communicated the state of affairs in New York, when the President said: "Sell five millions gold." The Secretary replied he had come for the purpose of suggesting the sale of three millions. The idea of selling gold thus appearing to be in the mind of each at the same time. A few minutes thereafter an order was telegraphed to New York to sell four millions gold. It may be repeated that the President had informed no one of the purpose of the administration on financial subjects, and the same remark is equally true of the Secretary of the Treasury.

HIGHLY INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE

The correspondence between C. H. Mallory & Co., owners of the steamship Euterpe, and the Secretary of State, is furnished for publication. Under date of New York, October 1st, the owners addressed Secretary Fish stating that the Euterpe had been chartered to Jose Pesant, to load with artillery for Havana, and that they were informed by rumor that a priveteer is waiting off Sandy Hook to intercept the steamer, and asking in that event, what protection they would have from the United States Government.

Secretary Fish, in reply, states that while a convoy cannot be given to the vessel, the United States will, if a vessel carrying their flag is molested on the high seas, use all their power to punish the offenders, and to prevent a repetition of the offence.

GLOOMY PICTURE OF AFFAIRS IN CUBA.

Letters from Cuba received here yesterday confirm previous accounts of the insubordination and treachery in the Cuban army. Gen. Cespedes and Gen. Onesada are untiring in their endeavors to harmonize the conflicting elements, but without success. The Americans are anxious to get away. They report every promise made them before leaving New York has been violated, and the representations of the state of affairs on the island are equally false. The Americans who have escaped describe the condition of their comrades as the most piteous. They are compelled to take the front in all contests, and receive no quarter from the Spaniards. The wounded, who in exigency of battle, are left upon the field are invariably murdered. To this is to be added the almost daily assassinations of their comrades by those whose independence and liberty they were induced to volunteer to assist in securing.

Several engagements have taken place, in all of which the Spaniards have been defeated, and in each of which the Americans have lost largely. These fights are stated to have been unimportant in their results as affecting the conclusion of the war.

INTERVIEW OF STEEL IMPORTERS.

The steel importers had an interview with Secretary Boutwell yesterday, and represented that their business was suffering on account of the action of the American Consul at Sheffield in refusing to certify their invoices, and they asked an investigation of the charges preferred by manufacturers in this country. Secretary Boutwell said the latter should be investigated, and in the meantime they might pay increased duties under protest until a decision could be made.

EJECTED FROM THE DRESS CIRCLE.

Three colored men attempted to take seats in the dress circle of the National Theatre to-night, and when politely requested to go to the place assigned to colored persons, refused to leave the dress circle unless compelled to do so by the officers of the house. They then left under compulsion of his order, no physical force being used; and it is supposed the question of the rights of negroes, under the recent corporation law relating to places of amusement, will now be tested.

INTERESTING TO TOBACCONISTS.

Commissioner Delano to-day decided that tobacco prepared by the processes generally employed in the manufacture of chewing tobacco, using as sweetening licorice, or sweetened materials, is liable to a tax of thirty-two cents under whatever name used.

Heavy Robbery.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, October 3.—Yesterday afternoon between one and two o'clock some person entered the Banking House of Cark & Ullman, No. 34 Clark street, went behind the counter, entered the vault, and took therefrom a trunk containing securities amounting to one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, consisting of promisory notes, Chamber of Commerce stock, Chicago Dock Company stock, Comercial Bank stock, &c., the property of J. P. Brooks. The robbery was not discovered until some two hours after. Fortunately none of the property taken can be made available to the robber.

—The suspension of J. Mott & Son, of N. Y., stock brokers, was announced Saturday.

NEWS BY CABLE.

The "Review" on Spanish-American Affairs—The Paraguayans Badly Defeated—Prussia despatches war vessels to the Antilles—Empress Eugenia arrived at Venice—French Chambers to be Convoked—Sickles' Note not Recalled—Humane Treatment for Cuban Prisoners—Prince Napoleon's Letter—Liberal Ideas at the Ecumenical Council.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

FRANCE.

PARIS, October 2.—It is estimated that the loss by fire among the shipping at Bordeaux will reach one million francs.

Dispatches received to-day announce the arrival of the Empress Eugenie at Venice.

The Ministers have decided to convoke the Chambers on the 8th of November. It is said that four Ministers will reign, and that Ollivier, Legris, Tolponet and Schnieder will succeed them.

PARIS, October 3—Prince Napoleon has written a letter to Col. Benton Chainan, and other Americans residing in London, thanking them for their address congratulating him for his liberal speech in the Senate. The Prince reminds them of the bonds which have always united France and America, and continues:

The present position bears resemblance to that at the close of the last century. France seeks to found a liberal democracy at the moment when America emerges from a gigantic struggle for the destruction of slavery, which dishonored the republic. The methods of France and America are different, but the end is the same. Constitutional liberty established in France will place the political sentiments of France and America in as complete accord as their interests already are."

In conclusion, the Prince thanked his American friends for having perceived in his speech moderate, liberal and democratic sentiments, which alone can secure the end at which they aim—the alliance of the Empire with liberty.

Nearly all the journals express dissatisfaction at the fact that the Chambers have not been immediately assembled.

The Patrie contradicts a report that the French troops are to retire from Rome on the 15th of November.

The Figaro says M. Dupauloup, Bishop of Orleans, will defend his liberal ideas before the Ecuminical Council, and that fifty American Bishops will give him their support.

The Journal Offeial announces that the Senate and Corps Legislatif have been convoked to meet on the 29th of November.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Late advices have been received from Buenos Ayres. It seems that President Lopez, in evacuating Asura, removed everything, including his guns, during the pursuit,

Thirty thousand allies had attacked three thousand Paraguayans. The latter fought desperately, the engagement lasting six hours. The Paraguayans lost 2,500 men, and all their archives and specie.

St. Rabane, Ireland, October 2.—Twenty-eight Catholics and eight Protestants have been committed for trial for alleged complicity in the riot of August 7th.

Right Rev. Samuel Waldegrave, Bishop of Carlisle, died to-day, aged 52.

PARIS, October 3.—Advices from Paraguayan sources represent that the losses of the Brazilians in their late battles amount to 8,000 men. President Lopez retired to the Grand Cordeilla, and thence to Acauaza, where he had in advance prepared new positions for his forces. The allies were preparing to with draw from Paraguay, but would leave a few troops behind to support the Provisional Government established at Asuncion.

The Argentine government has already recalled its contingent to the allied army in Paraguay.

The Buenos Ayres journals accuse the Brazilians of assassinating their prisoners.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, October 2.—The potato crop of England will fall short of an average of half a crop. In Cumberland it is diseased.

Col. Sill has been appointed Governor of New Foundland.

LONDON, October 2.—The Saturday Review has an article on the relation between Spain and the United States. The writer says the announcement that the Washington Government approves the communication of Sickles to the Spanish Government is only partially intelligible, as long as the terms of that despatch are unknown. So also is the annoucement that America had no intention to intervene, and was only prompted by humanity. It is certain the Spaniards consider the subject concerns themselves alone, and if the government prosecutes the contest with energy and success, no faction will openly oppose its measures.

Referring to Senator Sumner, the same paper says: "The American statesman, in publicly foretelling the dismemberment of the British empire, is probably not aware that he said anything uncivil."

SPAIN.

MADRID, October 3.—The note of Gen. Sickles to the Spanish Government in regard to Cuba has not been withdrawn.

A circular is published in the official Gazette instructing the Captain General of Cuba to treat the rebel prisoners with humanity and to deal with their offences through the ordinary tribunals, and urging him at the same time to push forward reforms in the administration of that Island.

The liberals generally opposed the elevation of the Duke of Genoa to the throne of Spain.

MADRID, October 3.—Telegraphic communication between Madrid and the Southern provinces is interrupted. It is believed that a Republican insurrection is in progress.

The equipment of a fleet for Cuba is pushed forward with great energy at Cadiz. Light artillery for special service and needle guns are to be sent out.

PRUSSIA.

LONDON, October 2.—In view of the complication between the United States and Spain, the Prussian Government have despatched vessels of war to the Antilles.

AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, October 2.—It is officially stated that the Austrian-Chinese treaty was signed at Tientzin recently.

The Late Disaster at Indianapolis.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one body at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVey, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute to-day.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here to-day. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded.

The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will not probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalded, and three of them are still at the hospital.

Earthquake in Utah.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, October 3.—A dispatch from Fillmore, Utah, dated the 1st, says at ten minutes to seven o'clock this evening a violent shock of earthquake was felt. It passed from south to north apparently in a due line. The State House rocked and trembled for five or ten seconds, then the shock gradually collapsed to a trembling, and distant rumbling was heard. In the dwelling houses in the city the windows, doors and cupboard furniture rattled and shook. It is said to be the most violent shock that has been felt in this part of Utah since the first settlement. The shock and trembling altogether lasted two minutes.

—Arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates of the Commercial Convention at Louisville, are about completed. The programme mentions a grand concert, a banquet and a steamboat excursion. A grand procession two miles long, embracing every trade, will be one of the features on the opening day. Ex-President Millard Fillmore, who will preside, is to be tendered a public reception.

—Omaha dispatches says intelligence from the expedition under General Duncan, who, with the fifth cavalry, left Fort McPherson about ten days ago for the Republican river, state that the troops surprised a camp of fifty-six lodges on Sunday, and drove them away capturing a large quantity of supplies and camp-equipage. The Indians lost one killed and several wounded.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and effelent treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

NOW IS THE TIME

To repair the inroads made upon the physical strength by the heated term which has closed with September. The vitality that has been oozing through the pores in the form of perspiration, for the last three months, requires to be replaced, as a preparative to the cold season which makes such disastrous havoc with relaxed and untoned sytems. The reverse of vigor with which the stoutest man commences the Summer campaign is drained out of him at its close, and unless by some means he acquires a new stock of vital energy wherewith to encounter the shock of a colder season, he may droop and wither like the falling leaves whose life-juices are exhausted. If it is thus with the strong, how much more perilous is the condition of the weak and ailing. Their reason must suggest to them, more forcibly than these printed words, the necessity for invigoration, and the world have decided, after an experience of nearly a quarter of a century, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS embrace such restorative properties as are not possessed by any other tonic and alternative preparation in existence. The importance of resorting to that great RENOVATOR AND REGULATOR OF THE HUMAN MACHINE, at this critical season is as obvious as the light of day. Let all who desire to escape an attack of chills and fever, bilious remittent fever, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, rheumatism, hypochondria, or any other of the diseases of which the Fall season is the prolific parent, have recourse promptly to this celebrated preventive and restorative.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, October 2, 1869.

The unsettled condition of the gold and stock market has temporarily checked mercantile transactions all over the country. Values of every kind are affected by the average decline of gold ab out six per cent., and a new basis has to be assumed, should gold permanently stay below 130, for which there is a good prospect now. For commercial reasons, the premium should decline during the present month to about 125, although the market is at present sustained at about 130, partly on account of an easy money market, but more so for preventing a too rapid decline in the market value of stock, in order to obtain a price for them by money lenders, with whom they are pledged on margins, for the advance of money to protect themselves from loss. Wall street and its vicinity assumed a quieter aspect at the close of the past week, and nearly all the gold contracts are satisfactorily settled. After a careful investigation of the whole transactions of the "bull" clique it turns out, that they were heavy losers at the end of settlement because of the large decline in stocks, of which they were the largest holders on small margins. It also came to light that after all, the smaller firms lost comparatively less than the larger houses, who depended on their immense resources in weathering the storm. Another question, no less important than the gold premium, is the future market value of bonds; and it remains to be seen how far they will be affected by the decline in gold. The mere fact of this decline should improve their value even in currency, provided, Europe was a buyer of them at present. This not being the case, and a hardening tendency of the money market evident, by the more rapid movement of western produce to a market while prices are yet fair—it may fairly be presumed that bonds will gradually approach the prices of last season. This reasoning may be supported by the early withdrawal of the Government from the market as a purchaser. In fact, the Government only sustained the market price by purchases at high rates, and generally above the average market quotation.

In stocks the market did not reach, with that activity usual to a heavy decline, for fear of a stringent money market; but a large share of the stocks held by Wall street has been transferred to private investers from all over the country, and any further decline would bring in hosts of country purchasers at low rates and for permanent investment.

In our local market the banks and bankers are supplying their friends with all the money required at reasonable rates, but outsiders find it difficult to obtain money under 12 per cent.

Bank stocks are still inquired for, but permanent investments in local bonds not desired.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK.

The oil market was moderatively active during the first two or three days of the week, but since then it has been very quiet, and the sales unusually light. On Wednesday there seemed to be quite a panic in refined, spot or September, selling down to 30¼@30¾; on Thursday and Friday, however, the feeling was stronger, prices improved considerably, though as already noted, there was but little done. To-day the market was again exceedingly quiet, though compared with yesterday, prices were unchanged.

Receipts crude this week, 17,309 bbls; last week, 19,502; January 1st to date, 644,749; same time last year, 855,417; Exports refined this week, 16,093; last week, 16,328; January 1st to date, 469,544; same time last year, 521,053. Sales this week, 45,500; last week, 70,000.

CRUDE.

But a single sale reported 2,000 spot at 14¾, and seller all the month may be quoted at 14⅝@14¾. Seller all year may be quoted at 14⅝@14½, with sales during Wednesday and Thursday of 12,500 bbls at these quotations. Nothing done in buyer option all year for some time—nominal at 15.

REFINED.

But a single sale, 500 bbls last half October at 32½. There were offers to buy spot at 31¾, but, apparently, no sellers below 32; October to December, quoted at 32⅜@32½. There has been considerable oil sold to go south and west during the week, and the shipments both by rail and river, particularly by river, have been large.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE MILL ON THE FLOSS. FELIX HOLT. By George Eliot. Published by Field, Osgood & Co., Boston. For sale by James H. Aiken, Fifth avenue, and R. S. Davis & Co., Liberty street, Pittsburgh.

The excellent features of the "Household Edition" of the works of George Eliot, have already been commended, in noticing "Adam Bede," as in the editions of Reade's and Thackeray's. These works throughout are elegant specimens of book-making, and of convenient size, and also very cheap. The publishers announce that the edition is issued under special arrangement with Mrs. Lewes, ("George Eliot,") whereby her right of property is acknowledged. As to the merits of "The Mill on the Floss," and "Felix Holt," it is hardly necessary to state, as Mrs. Lewes' writings are regarded as being superior to the ordinary works of fiction, that comparison with others is useless. The purity of her style, naturalness in the delineation of character, and lofty sentiment that pervades her writings, entitle her to a high place in literary circles. There is a peculiar charm about her creations, that few authors have attained in this class of literature.

SAINT PAUL. By Ernest Renan, Membre De L'Institute. Author of "The Life of Jesus," "The Apostles," etc. Published by G. W. Carleton, New York. For sale by J. W. Pittock, Pittsburgh.

Renan's "Life of Jesus" startled the religious world, especially the evangelical portion, for its bold assumptions, and fierce assaults upon the divine origin of Christianity. The ability of the author renders his writings the more dangerous. All his works are of a redolent type, and are fine specimens of word painting, but under this vein of beautiful rounded periods, there lies hidden the virus of rationalistic sentiments. Renan regarded Christ as a human Reformer, and divine only in the sense in which all men are divine. He argued that Jesus was not God. An author entertaining such views of Christ would hardly regard Paul in any better light. While he considers that St. Paul was a man of signal mental ability, he denies the ability of the Apostle to work a miracle, as he doubted Christ's sovereign power to work them. A work of such a character ought not to be circulated indiscriminately, and yet the simple fact that it is unsound in doctrinal matters, its circulation is likely to be greatly augmented from that fact. The author is gifted much beyond ordinary minds, and we expect this volume will produce a profound impression. It must be conceded, notwithstanding its pernicious influence, that the work will throw much light upon the wonderful career of th greatest of Apostles.

SOME RECOLLECTIONS OF OUR ANTI-SLAVERY CONFLICT. By Samuel J. May. Published by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston. For sale by James H. Aiken, Pittsburgh.

Considering this volume is a valuable one, for its history of the slavery struggle, it fails to give many things during this dark period, that are worthy of prominence in this great civil conflict. The conflicts of the early days, are narrated with much taste, and illustrated with incidents of a thrilling character. It contains personal reminiscences too that are at once curious and entertaining. Much light is also thrown upon this question that has so long afflicted the world, the solution of which reveals the efforts that were put forth by Mr. May and others to elevate the downtrodden. These sketches are told in a straight forward style, and they are full of lessons for humanity. Still it lacks generous mention of some noted anti-slavery Christian men, which mars its unity. The work is divided into two parts—"Rise of Abolition" and the "Anti-slavery Conflict." The volume is elegantly gotten up.

LITTLE EFFIE'S HOME. By the author of "Donald Frazer," "Bertie Lee," etc. Published by Robert Carter & Brothers, New York. For sale by S. A. Clarke & Co, Pittsburgh.

The story of little Effie's rescue from a violent death, will produce an interest from the outset, which does not slack until the end is reached. Incidents are interspersed throughout the work which add interest to it, especially the efforts put forth to promote the Sabbath School and Temperance cause. Not the least interesting feature is the life and work of the disciples of the Lord woven in the story. The book is an admirable one for Sunday School libraries.

LITTLE DROPS OF RAIN. By the author of "Nell's Mission." Published by R. Carter & Brothers, New York. For sale by S. A. Clarke & Co., Pittsburgh.

Under this simple title there is hidden the story of the incidents in the life of "Little Elsie," that illustrates how a young girl may become a blessing to others by her kindly offices. There is much in the volume that will attract youthful readers, and leave good impressions upon their minds. It is well illustrated.

LITTLE MAIDIE. Part II. By Caroline E. K. Davis. Published by Henry Hoyt, Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis & Co., Pittsburgh.

Not having received part first, we are unable to give the thread of the story. It is one of tender interest, however, for little folks, and illustrates what a little girl could do to make others happy. Little Maidie, the central figure and heroine, is well drawn, and her good deeds are worthy of imitation.

ARMY LIFE IN A BLACK REGIMENT. By Thomas Wentworth Higginson, late Colonel 1st South Carolina Volunteers. Published by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis & Co., Pittsburgh.

Army life has been a fruitful theme since the late civil war, so that most every person is familiar with its incidents and characters. In this volume, however, we have sketched the episodes of a regiment of uncultivated black men, in which phases of human nature are revealed, which are not ordinarily found in a body of whites, under military discipline. Under the magic touch of Col. Higginson's facile pen, that which might be common place in itself, is made to sparkle and glow with life. Throughout the volume historical facts relating to the war are admirably narrated, and charming sketches give the book the coloring of romance. The experiment of enrolling the blacks into so large a body by themselves, proved a success, and demonstrated that the black element could fight for the Union as well as be loyal to the Government in our dark days in the South.

DREAM NUMBERS. A Domestic Novel. By T. Adolphus Trollope. Author of "Gemma," "Beppo," etc. Published by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia.

Adolphus Trollope, unlike his brother Anthony Trollope, revels in Italian scenes and incidents, and usually does well what he undertakes. He is perhaps the most popular living writer of this class of fiction, and has the facility to produce an excellent plot and combine his characters symmetrically. This work is a little tinged with the sensational type, and lovers of dreams and chance will find woven a story of interest at least.

THE INTELLIGENCE OF ANIMALS, with illustrative anecdotes. From the French of Ernest Menault. With Illustrations. Published by Charles Scribner & Co., of New York. For sale by J. W. Pittock, Pittsburgh.

This volume belongs to Scribner's "Library of Wonders," quite as interesting and successful as any of the series issued. There is a vein of vivacity in this work, indeed in all of them, that is so prominent in French authors. Many will question the position of the author for assigning to animals a limited degree of reason, though the exhibition of a remarkable instinct cannot be questioned in decided terms. No doubt animals possess instinct sufficient to avoid danger and provide for future wants. The arrangement of the work, classification of the animals, and wonderful incidents related, renders the book interesting and instructive. The numerous illustrations add to its interest very greatly.

THE scale of penalties in Scotch Courts is somewhat peculiar. In the Dundee Circuit, the other day, an old woman was sent to prison eight years for stealing a petticoat and shawl, and the same punishment was given to a young man who had murdered his illegitimate child by pouring vitriol down its throat.

LEVERIER, the astronomer, and one of the strongest reactionists in the French Senate, is said to have become a confirmed hypochondriac in consequence of the political reforms granted by the Emperor Napoleon, and which, he predicts, will result in the speedy overthrow of the Empire and the proclamation of the Red Republic.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, heetic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 235 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same results. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

Inquest.

Coroner Clawson held an inquest Saturday, on the body of John Anherbach, who died suddenly Friday evening. The deceased, it appears, resided in a cellar on Spring alley, Third Ward, Allegheny, which he had rented about a week since from Mr. Wall, and which was totally unfit for human habitation, in consequence of dampness and want of proper ventilation. Saturday preceding his death Auderbach, who was about forty years of age, was seen going into his house, but nothing was seen of him Sunday and Monday, when the neighbors became uneasy and determined to investigate the matter. The door was broken open and the unfortunate man was found lying on a pile of straw in the corner of the room, almost suffocated by the smoke and foul air in the cellar. He was removed to the house of a neighbor and a physician sent for, but his case was a hopeless one, and he expired Friday evening. The jury found that he came to his death from exposure and inhaling coal smoke and other poisonous fumes. On searching his den $850 in gold and greenbacks were found.

A Card from David Kirk, Esq.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE GAZETTE: At the Temperance and Reform meeting in the Twelfth ward, on Friday evening, a new speaker was introduced, after the Rev. Mr. Kerr and myself had spoken, who denounced the Republican party and its nominees in a manner altogether unwarranted and totally at variance with the ideas of every member of the Temperance Reform Executive Committee, who take issue on the Commissioner question alone, and that on moral and religious grounds, and because they consider reform to be necessary in that office.

The speaker referred to the nomination of John W. Kerr, Esq., for the Assembly, and denounced it as one that was a disgrace to the party. I was called off by some gentlemen at the time, and did not hear all his remarks. Had I heard them I would have promptly stopped him and contradicted his assertions and disavowed personally, and also on behalf of the committee, any sympathy with his sentiments.

As is well known, I was called upon unexpectedly by my associates in the oil trade the day before the Convention met for the use of my name as a candidate for the Assembly, which was granted. It was used in the Convention in direct opposition to Mr. Kerr as a candidate from the "Between the River District." Had I known Mr. Kerr then as I do now, I would not have permitted my name to have been used against him. I have become acquainted with him since, and find him to be a gentleman and a scholar, and one in every way better qualified to represent the city of Pittsburgh in the Assembly than myself. I rejoice that he was successful, and instead of his nomination being a disgrace to the party I consider it an eminently proper one, and one that is an honor to the Republican party. I shall do what I can as a true Republican to elect him and all his associates on the ticket, with the exception of the candidate for Commissioner, who I do not consider to be the nominee of the party, but one placed there by trickery and fraud, in direct violation of the rules and regulations of the Republican party. DAVID KIRK.

Another Coal Pit Accident—Four Persons Fall a Distance of One Hundred and Eighty Feet.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, October 2.—A horrible accident occurred at the Gardner coal mine, at Gardner, Ill., last evening, at about 8 o'clock, as four persons were descending the coal shaft. The wire hoisting rope broke, and the men fell with the cage upon which they were standing a distance of 180 feet to the bottom of the shaft. Great excitement prevailed among the miners and citizens of the town. As soon as the fact became known immediate steps were taken to descend the shaft to the relief of the sufferers. After the repairs were made the other cage was lowered and the mangled men were brought up. Strange to say none were killed outright, though all had bones broken. One, a lad of about fifteen years, has since died, and two others are supposed to be beyond recovery. No satisfactory theory has yet been advanced for the cause of the accident.

—A special to the Memphis Avalanche, from Grenada, Mississippi, says Judge Dent, in his speech there, on Saturday, in reply to Gen. Alcorn, said President Grant was in favor of his election, and had told him that he hoped he would be elected. He contended that the colored people were not indebted to the Republicans for their freedom, as it became a war necessity to free them, and the right of vote had been given them in order that the Radicals might work out their reconstruction measures to suit themselves, and not for any love for them.

GOLD CONFLICT OVER.

The Excitement Abated—Order Out of Confusion—"Shaky" Firms—Postmaster Cresswell Visits the Gold Room and Makes a Brief Speech.

NEW YORK, October 2.—The inefficiency of the Gold Exchange Bank, as a clearing house for transactions in gold, has brought out many new plans.

The Gold Room this morning, in executive session, passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of nine be appointed to ascertain whether it is practicable and desirable to organize a clearing department as a function of the Exchange for clearing contracts in gold made by and between members of the Board, and to report the plan.

It was currently reported in the Gold Room that Paleston, Raymond & Co. had failed, and that their liabilities were heavy. The report arose from the announcement of that firm, in a letter to the President of the Stock Exchange, that their temporary suspension was necessary, and requesting the members having unsettled transactions, to send in a statement of their accounts. This is to facilitate in balancing their books, left in a terribly tangled state by the alleged defaulting cashier, J. W. Sanderson, who is not at the office to-day. They state that no approximate estimate of their losses can be ascertained, but believe themselves able to meet all, and in a short time resume their business.

Adams, Kimball & Moore also announced themselves suspended, but cannot give a correct estimate of their liabilities. The probability is they are heavy. They have no unsettled transactions in the street, and their failure is caused by losses in both stocks and gold, the principal losses being in the former.

The World states that Commodore Vanderbilt has not sold a dollar's worth of New York Central stock this fall, but on the contrary, has been a constant buyer, even through the panic, and has assisted his friends to an amount of two and a half millions of dollars. He borrowed ten millions of an English firm, applying it to sustaining the Central and Hudson. The story that he has bought seventy thousand shares of the Lake Shore is untrue.

Reports as to the condition of Lockwood & Co. are unfavorable, but there is no means of ascertaining their truth or falsity until Monday, when the Directors of the Lake Shore Company hold a meeting, at which it is expected the relations of that Company with the failure of Lockwood & Co. will be made known. Mr. Legrand Lockwood has tendered his resignation as a treasnrer of the Company, and on Monday his successor will be chosen.

The Post has the best authority for stating that the Barings had no connection with the late government transactions. It also says Duncan & Sherman's entire sales of gold during the gold frenzy were only $200,000, all in the regular course of their exchange business.

The World gives the following as an opinion expressed yesterday by A. T. Stewart: "I disapproved of the policy of selling gold and purchasing bonds with the proceeds, believing, as I do, it will never lead us, as it is probably meant to lead us, to specie payments. Such a policy would not lead us to such a result in ten years—no, nor in a hundred. The purchase of bonds with gold gives the speculators the means to carry on their operations. This policy is unquestionably of great benefit to those who have no means of their own, while solvent men will entirely oppose this policy. It will be approved of by those who are shaky."

Postmaster General Cresswell visited the Stock Exchange this morning and in brief, spoke as follows:—"I thank you gentlemen for your cordial reception, and I am happy to see that the conflict is over, and the bright prospect which matters now wear. There is nothing that the Government can do for the interest of the merchants and bankers that will not be done."

There were some further gold settlements among brokers to-day, but there seems to be a hitch, with a few of the larger houses. There is a growing opinion that the large contracts will be chiefly closed up on Monday or Tuesday. It is believed the offer made by Heath & Co. to-day to settle their contracts at 135 and pay the difference between that and the actual figure in the contract with checks duly received at the Gold Exchange Bank, will be very generally accepted.

The directors of the R. I. R. R., have declared a semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent.

The Bank statement is the most favorable exhibit made for a long time past, the gain in legal reserve being heavy.

The suit brought by the Erie Railway Company against the Union Bank, and others, to restrain the sale of Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad stock and Toledo and Wabash stock has been withdrawn, and an order to that effect entered this morning.

Latest Chicago Sensation—Man Boxed up in a Bridg, Where he is Supposed to have Remained Five Years.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, October 2.—This forenoon the workmen engaged in excavating and effecting improvements at the east end of Randolph street bridge, discovered the remains of a man boxed up, as it werein, the woodwork of the bridge some ten feet beneath the latter. Deceased had all of his clothing on, and was in a very decomposed condition. Some persons conjecture that the deceased has been in the spot where he was found about four years; while many are of the opinion that four months will cover up the time. Up to half past two o'clock the remains had not been removed, but the Coroner has taken steps in that direction. The discovery of the remains created the greatest excitement, and an immense crowd of people has been collected at the bridge since the body was found. There is no possible way for the man to have got in the narrow space by accident, and it is highly probable that the deceased had been murdered and put there. In order to do this, one of the heavy planks must have been taken off on either side.

BOUND FOR CUBA.

Vessels—Men and Ammunition Aboard—Volunteers in Abundance—Ho! for Cuba.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KEY WEST, October 2.—The Cuban expedition, four hundred strong, under command of General Cristo, that left New York on Monday morning at five o'clock on the steamer Alabama, safely ran the forts and two revenue cutters, and arrived on the Florida coast this morning. She was joined off the Port by the Cuban privateers, Lillian and Teaser, on board of which were sixteen hundred men under General Goicouria, with ten thousand Remington and Winchester rifles, five hundred sabres and twenty pieces of artillery, ranging from six to twenty-four pounders.

Another body of men under command of Generals Steedman and Magruder are now at a Gulf port, embarking on a third vessel for the common rendezvous off the Cuban coast.

The Lillian and Teaser, with two thousand men, about seventy officers, and a considerable quantity of arms and ammunition, sailed for Cuba last night. They will be joined at sea by the privateers Hornet and Cuba, carrying fifteen guns each, some of which are one hundred pounders. These four vessels will escort the expedition to its final destination. The Hornet will cruise about the island, and the others will go to sea in search of Spanish merchantmen and troop ships.

Volunteering is very brisk along the whole Gulf coast, and already five thousand men are awaiting transportation.
